How to use Padlet

In case you want to simply look at the programme or additional information on the e-platform you do not need a Padlet account. You can just click on the link(s) to and within our Padlet without a problem.

Community page

If you want to interact with your fellow conference participants on for instance the secured Community page (which we heavily encourage), you then have two options.

Two options

Option 1 - is not to make a Padlet account

In this case whenever you post a message or reply, your contribution will be labeled as 'anonymous'. If this is your choice, we ask you to end each message with your name. Thus insuring participants can see with whom they interact. The content will be moderated to prevent inappropriate content.

NOTE: if you change your mind after posting as anonymous and do create a Padlet account, then it will no longer be possible to edit you "anonymous" posts.

Option 2 - is to make a Padlet account

This should be easy. To make a Padlet account you need to go to Padlet.com. Here you click on the Log-in button. Once you have pressed the button, follow these steps:

- a. Enter your e-mail.
- b. Then you will receive a verification code which you enter Padlet.
- c. Create a password for your account.
- d. Select "Personal projects" (then there are no costs involved).
- e. Under "Settings" you can change your name and profile picture.
- f. Use the QR code (on top of this document) or copy this link to search our platform:
<https://padlet.com/AFRConference/welcome>.
- g. You will be directed to the homepage of the conference platform.
- h. You are invited to get acquainted with the information on the platform via the menu on the homepage.
- i. Two pages are secured with a code (see email for the codes)
- j. Log in on the Community page and choose the Introduction page.
- k. Read the instruction and start introducing yourself.
- l. You are also invited to start discussions topics relating to AFR on the Discussion page!

Whatever way you choose to participate we wish you a wonderful conference!
